

Note on the contributors

- Paul Weindling, Wellcome Trust Research Professor in the History of Medicine, Brooks University, Oxford
- Hilary Rose, Emeritus Professor of Social Policy, University of Bradford and Emeritus Professor of Physik, Gresham College, London
- Myrto Dragona-Monachou, Emeritus Professor of Philosophy, Department of History and Philosophy of Science, University of Athens, and Department of Philosophy and Social Studies, University of Crete, Member of the Greek National Committee of Bioethics
- Pavlos Surlas, Professor in Philosophy of Law, Department of Law, University of Athens
- Philippos Vassiloyiannis, Lecturer in Philosophy of Law, Department of Law, University of Athens
- Philimon Peonidis, Assistant Professor of Philosophy, Department of Philosophy and Education, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki
- Takis Vidalis, Ph.D. Law, Research Associate, Greek National Committee of Bioethics
- Dimitris Doulakis, MA in Bioethics, Ph.D. candidate, Joint Postgraduate Programme in Bioethics, University of Crete
- George Charalambous, M.A. in Bioethics, Ph.D. candidate, Joint Postgraduate Programme in Bioethics, University of Crete
- Alexandra Ntroumboyianni, M.A in Bioethics, Ph.D. candidate, Joint Postgraduate Programme in Bioethics, University of Crete
- Maria Dagla, M.A. in Bioethics, Ph.D. candidate, Joint Postgraduate Programme in Bioethics, University of Crete
- Olga Grafakou, M.A. in Bioethics, Joint Postgraduate Programme in Bioethics, University of Crete
- Katerina Psarikidou, M.A. in Bioethics, University of Crete, Ph.D. candidate in Bioethics, University of Lancaster, United Kingdom
- Antonios Basoukos, M.A. student in Bioethics, Joint Postgraduate Programme in Bioethics, University of Crete